The cabin in which Lincoln was born

I was born Feb. 12, 1809, in Hardin County, Kentucky. My parents were both born in Virginia, of undistinguished families, ^{became families, perhaps I should say} My mother, who died in my ^{tenth} ~~ninth~~ year, was of a family of the name of Harkis, some of whom now reside in Adams, and other in Macou Counties, Illinois. My paternal grandfather, Abraham Lincoln, emigrated from Rockingham County, Virginia, to Kentucky, about 1781 or 2, where, a year or two later, he was killed by Indians, not in battle, but by stealth, when he was laboring to open a farm in the forest. His ancestor, who was Quaker, went to Virginia from Berks County, Pennsylvania. An effort to identify them with the New ^{England} ^{of the same name} family, even in nothing more definitely than a similarity of Christian names in both families, such as Enock, Levi, Mordecai, Solomon, Abraham, and the like.

My father, at the death of his father, was but six years of age; and he grew up, literally without education. He removed from Kentucky to what is now Spencer County, Indiana, and, in my eighth year. We reached our new home about the time the State came into the Union. It was a wild region, with many bears and other wild animals, still in the woods. There I grew up. There were some schools, so called; but no qualification was ever required of a teacher, beyond "Reading, writing, and ciphering". ~~Reading, writing, and Arithmetic~~ ^{to the Rule of Three.} If a stranger ^{supposed to understand Latin} happened to sojourn in the neighborhood, he was looked upon as a wizzard - There was absolutely nothing to excite ambition for education. Of course when I came of age, I did not know much - Still somehow, I could read, write, and cipher to the Rule of Three, but that was all - I have not been to school since - The little advances I now have upon this slow education, I have ~~been~~ picked up from time to time under the pressure of necessity -

I was raised to farm work, which I continued till I was twentytwo - At twentyone I came to Illinois, and passed the first year in Illinois Macou County - Then I got ^{to} New Salem ^{at that time} ~~(then)~~, in Sangamon, now in Menard County, where I permanied a year as a sort of black in a store - Then came the Black Hawk war, and I was elected a Captain of Volunteers - a success which gave me more pleasure than any I have had since - I went the campaign, was elected, ran for the Legislature the same year (1832), and was beaten - the only time I ever have been beaten by the people - The next, and three succeeding biennial elections, I was elected to the Legislature - I was not a candidate afterwards. During this Legislative period I had studied law, and removed to Springfield to ~~make~~ practice it - In 1846 I was once elected to the lower House of Congress - Was not a candidate for re-election - From 1849 to 1854, both inclusion, practical law (more unscrupulously than ever before - Always a whig in politics, and generally on the whig electoral tickets, (making serious cause vances - I was losing interest in politics, when the repeal of the Missouri Compromise aroused me again - What I have done since then is pretty well known.

If any personal description of me is thought ~~worth~~ desirable, it may be said, I am, in height, six feet, four inches, nearly; lean in flesh, weighing, on an average, one hundred and eighty pounds; dark complexion, with coarse black hair, and grey eyes - no other marks or bands recollective -

Wm J. F. Felt.

Yours very truly
A. Lincoln

Washington, D.C. March 20, 1852
